SPRING IS HERE....

IT'S TIME FOR SPRING BREAK....

It's Spring time and that means Spring Break. But first, let's take a quick lesson about the history of Spring Break before we head out. Some of the elements of the Spring Break tradition also go way back in the customs of American college students. Traveling to the coast or to the site of a mineral spring as a restorative cure for the rigors of academic life was common among the well-to-do set of American college students since the 19th century (if not earlier).

TO YOURSELF!"

In the early 20th century, the combination of the establishment of female collegiate alternatives to traditionally male-only universities and the invention of the car created "The Road Trip" as a mechanism among college students for the co-mingling of the sexes.

Finally, while the custom ebbed and flowed with the times, by the 20th century college was firmly ensconced next to military service as a primary opportunity for the initiation into inebriation among the 18-22 year-old generation. Thus, the major components of today's Spring Break actually have their antecedents in long-standing collegiate behaviors.

However, it took a further technological development to meld them into the cultural icon that Spring Break now represents. Therefore, Spring Break, as we know it today, did not begin until the 1960's, thanks to the invention of what life-altering technology????

Keep Your Room to YOURSELF!

The end of the semester is coming upon us, and what's your room situation? We have opened availability to campus and other students, which means your room could be up for grabs. We do not want you to leave, so come renew your lease, extend or transfer today.

Not sure what you want to do? Well we are here to help make that decision. UAE has variety of options that can help keep your room and make summer vacation a smooth trip.

If you decide to renew and keep your room, you have the option to do summer storage. With Summer Storage, you can keep your room and for $250 your belongings can remain in the room over the summer. This eliminates the hassle of having to take everything and turn around to put it back in again in August. The fee is broken into 2 easy payments of $150, that is due on May 1 and June 1.

Another option is to transfer to another unit. The standard fee is $300, although be on the look out and you could get a great deal.

Finally if you want to stay over the summer, you can pay your rent rate monthly and extend your lease. This option is great if you are already working, taking summer classes or plan on being at an internship.

Come in today and chat with a LP or CA about details and "KEEP YOUR ROOM TO YOURSELF!" Space is limited and your room is up for grabs.

FYI! Make sure you are on top of your electric bill and balances on your account. Late fees are added accordingly for unpaid balances at the end/beginning of the month. The next electric bill is due April 8th. Also in order to take your hold off, you must have a zero balance. After the balance is paid please give it two business day to be taken off.

GRADUATING SENIORS: Come in to sign your graduate extension form ASAP. We are covering you up until after graduation.

A new video on student success for low-income and first-generation students highlights two outstanding black colleges—Johnson C. Smith University and Delaware State University—“who are experimenting with exciting new ways to serve these at-risk students.”

Released by Bill Gates on his GatesNotes.com website last week, the two-minute video depicts America’s richest man “meeting students where they are” and embracing them.

In the video, Gates talks about JCSU and DSU efforts to help students who may not had a great high school experience, challenging other four-year schools to try to figure out how to help these students enroll in higher education programs and complete their degrees.

"BILL GATES SPEAKS ON MEETING ON WHERE THEY ARE"

"Encouraging more low-income and first-generation college students to get college degrees is critical—not just for the students themselves, but for the health of America’s economy," Gates said in a blog on his website. "By 2025, two-thirds of all jobs in the US will require education beyond high school."

"At the current rate the US is producing college graduates, however, the country is expected to face a shortfall of 11 million skilled workers to fill those roles over the next 10 years," he said.

Both presidents of the black colleges, Dr. Ronald Carter and Dr. Harry Williams, have met with Gates and his foundation officials earlier this month, reports the DSU Newsroom: "The Gates Foundation is closely following DSU’s cutting edge Individualized Development Plan (IDP) Initiative – which has been launched with the Fall 2016 freshmen class – and is supporting the University’s rigorous assessment of it through a $1.2 million grant."

Gates said he’s keeping tabs on these schools and believes “they are transforming lives.”
